Annual General Meeting 10:45

Déjà Vu: Lessons Learned in Challenging Economic Times...and Strategies for Moving Forward

Faced with economic and human resource planning challenges, we need to reflect on our past successes in dealing with similar issues. Beyond our proven resilience, nursing leaders also need to find strategies to pool our collective wisdom in order to generate new innovations that will help our people, our patients and our organizations surmount the challenges that lay ahead. Bringing a positive message of change, a panel of experts will share views from their respective domains of practice to highlight current trends, past successes and future possibilities that span all sectors and practice settings. Following a brief formal presentation, there will be an interactive dialogue among the audience to further enable sharing of ideas and strategies for ensuring quality patient care and quality work environments in challenging times! Please join us to share in the creation of new solutions.

Please note the Agenda for AGM on back page - we have some important decisions to make regarding the future of ANEGTA.

Annual General Meeting Agenda

1. Membership and Finance Reports
2. Determining the future of ANEGTA

We need your input regarding the future of ANEGTA.

Although highly valued as an informal networking group for nursing leaders, we need your assistance in determining next steps (e.g. is there interest and support to continue for another year?), whether new branding/ marketing is required and interest from others to assist on the Executive.

We look forward to your input.

ANEGTA provides an informal professional forum for nursing leaders within hospitals, long term care, and community health agencies, as well as nursing educators, researchers and consultants to share information and to debate issues of relevant professional concern in an age of ongoing change in the structure and delivery of health services in Ontario.

Membership in ANEGTA provides you and your institution or organization with a valuable connection to a network of your peers and colleagues, each dealing with similar issues and concerns. Our Five Educational Series and Meetings scheduled between October and May provide an important forum for addressing topical issues and concerns facing nursing leaders. ANEGTA continues to offer these excellent educational events at a very efficient cost (i.e. for multi-site organization this works out to approximately $80.00 for each session offered and the ability to send multiple participants at no extra charge!).

This combination of networking and educational opportunities is also an excellent forum for the emerging nursing leaders in your organization to expand their network of nursing colleagues and enhance their knowledge regarding their leadership skills. A great way to support to leadership succession planning within your organization
